HS222.m Identifying Pharmacological and Non-pharmacological Treatment in Pain Management Beginning Level for All

Date/Time:

Tuesday, June 7, 2022 from 9:00 – 11:00 a.m.

Location:

Live Interactive Webinar – via Zoom.

Please see Live Interactive Webinar Requirements and Instructions for additional details

Course Description:

Pain management is an increasingly demanding need in healthcare, one that can be addressed in several ways. Issues to be considered are the types of pain and why different classes of medication are recommended, as well as some of the risks associated with different medications such as side effects, misuse, addiction, overdose, and death, most notably with the use of Opioid treatment. This course looks at the definition of pain, its physiology and pathophysiology, acute vs. chronic pain, the assessment of pain, and pharmacological and nonpharmacological treatment options.

Course Facilitator(s):

Jane Laubengayer, PharmD is a 2021 graduate of the Drake University College of Pharmacy and is the current PGY-1 Community-Based Pharmacy Resident with Meijer/Ferris State/Pfizer in Grand Rapids, Michigan. She is currently involved in practice at the Cherry Health Heart of the City Health Center Adult Medicine Clinic in collaboration with Dr. Susan Devuyt-Miller where she performs outpatient clinic visits. Jane has previously worked in Community Pharmacy for 5+ years. During her residency year, she is exploring numerous learning and practice opportunities in academia, ambulatory care, administration, clinical outreach, patient care and research. Jane's professional areas of interest include community and ambulatory practice, pain management, substance use disorders, social determinants of health, disease state prevention.

Course Objectives:

Participants who complete this course will be able to:

1. Differentiate between nociceptive and neuropathic pain
2. Describe the role of acetaminophen, nonsteroidal anti-inflammatory drugs (NSAIDs), opioids, and other adjuvant analgesics in the management of acute and chronic pain
3. Recommend an appropriate pharmacological treatment plan for a patient experiencing acute or chronic pain
